Mission

- Improve the participation and experience of women in the R community - to achieve a proportionate gender representation in R community

Support R enthusiasts who identify as female to help them achieve their programming potential by building a collaborative network of R leaders, mentors, learners and developers to facilitate individual and collective progress worldwide.

Code of Conduct

R-Ladies is dedicated to providing a harassment-free experience for everyone. We do not tolerate harassment of participants in any form.

This code of conduct applies to all R-Ladies spaces, both offline and online, including: meetups, Twitter, Slack, mailing lists. Anyone who violates this code of conduct may be sanctioned or expelled from these spaces at the discretion of the Founding Members. (...)

If you are being harassed by a member/guest/participant of/at R-Ladies, notice that someone else is being harassed, or have any other concerns, please contact the Founding Members via reporting@rladies.org

“ A diversity of thought, perspective and culture is important in any field (...) Surround yourself with people who support you and get involved in [coding] programs.
